NOTE: Works merely referred to in passing in the text have not been noticed in the bibliography. Full details appear in the ~~foot~~notes in the appropriate place.

The edition first listed is that referred to in the text. This is followed where appropriate with the date of first publication and finally the most readily accessible recent edition.

Dorothy Green, Ulysses Bound, Canberra: Australian National University Press, 1973, appeared too late for me to take note of its discussion in the text, except as Green's critical discussion of Henry Handel Richardson had already appeared in the articles noted above.
